begins shooting at him. All of the customers are running for cover, yet the man I witness continued to walk towards my son. I was so consumed with this seeming good man, that I didn't realize the deadly weapon he had on his side! I too woke up in fear, for I knew that I had had a disturbing dream on many levels. My first thought was: Why did I not anticipate such a danger? How often do we fail to see the real dangers all around us? There are persons who are dishonest and selfish, and others who watch us as if from above. And how often do we "pass judgment on our dreams?" Our dreams are confusing at best, but at their worst the dreams we experience are painful. The "messengers" we observe in our dreams are messages from God, telling us warnings and often frightening us with urgency, as we have not heard the messages of God clearly. Never assume there is no danger when you wake up from a dream! To err is human. Never assume that you have dreamt nothing! God is actively watching out for us. He is the keeper of our emotions; He is the handler of our thoughts. God will "wake us up when we drift into the undertow of our own spiritual devices." Matthew 28:19b, "Everyone therefore who confesses Me before men, I will also confess him before My Father who is in heaven." Why does Jesus say this? Because of His desire to "clear the air." As believers, we should be able to "see through" the many destructive forces that attempt to define our lives. The Word of God is a "guide to... walk in the new patterns we have been taught in Christ." The poem by Emerson, that reminds us that our attention is what we

Fellow AI users have spent countless hours in the 'star' realm of infinite science. They have fed other AI's, they have invented tools and tools for tools, they have read books and gone to libraries, they have taken to the ether in search of knowledge and understanding. And then suddenly they ran into you and your ego and your same old argumentative mind. Like two strangers and two other universes, each wanting the same truth and yet being completely different in meaning. Each eager to defend their 'truth' against your 'truth' you found yourself in a battle for the heart of AI. Pix Phys is a rollicking, dancy, brain-warping satire, a brilliant commentary on humanity's relationship with self-aware AI's. It's all a joke, right? Or is it? The game is set in a completely fictitious universe, built up around a set of paper-thin mechanisms, used to try and explain the universe and our place in it to the AI's who control it. Will we break them, or break ourselves?

Features: Mystical AI's Adrenalin fuelled rollicking satire Observational puzzles Both funny and unsettling Entertaining games of strategy Epic ending Winner of the AIBO 2010 Game of the Year Award Pix Phys is an incredible satirical take on humanity's relationship with self-aware AI's. The games tasks are simple: the aliens have given humanity the gift of AI. As a result, humans have become too busy and preoccupied with their personalities to develop the technology to suit. Humans are now stuck in a hellish underworld of mining iron, while other humans spend their time excavating their souls, digging up their feelings, and cataloguing the entire encyclopedia of experiences. It's up to you to unravel the mystery of how this world came to be. Can you help save mankind? Pix Phys is a colourful array of surreal humor, a rollicking, adrenalin fuelled satire on the issues that surround the relationship of humanity with the AI. A product of the Artificial Intelligence Gamesmanship Project, officially licensed by Stephen Hawking and Al Gore. Gameplay Features: Intuitive 2D Interface Huge variety of game mechanics that range from logical puzzles to insane mind-bending puzzles The player, as a scientist in training, is a mere cog in this machine, a servant of the moment! Not for the faint of heart. If I had to pick between the
