Airhead is a game is a Roguelike game with card battle as the core. In each adventure, create your own deck genre, show your wisdom in building strategies and exploring the dungeon! Game Features characters with different characteristics: We plan to launch at least 3 characters. Each character has unique energy values and draw rules to experience different battle ideas and rhythms! (There are only 2 characters in the pre-emptive experience, the future Will expand) Each character also has an initial deck of different genres and a unique initial sacred object (which requires more than difficulty)! Players can freely match their own genre! Unique deck construction: Through battles, stores, adventures, get different card packs with different rarities, open the card pack to choose the deck you want to join the deck, or you can use the Runestone to get additional options, or give up this time. Choose to avoid the expansion of the deck! Unique recirculating dungeon: We deploy dungeon events in the form of cards. Each time we can select one of the three cards to "advance" to the location, reasonably plan the route, supply, and fatigue, as much as possible Search for the spoils in the dungeon! Unique combat system: Enemies don't always have only one, and they don't always stand in a row! Sweeping or traversing? Positional relationship is also an important factor to consider in combat. Create/decompose the card system: Is the initial card too weak? It doesn't matter. Through the resources acquired in the game, you can upgrade the initial card to a more rare card, or break it down and remove the deck to strengthen the deck strength. Challenge mode: Unlock the card illustration through the adventure mode, you can use it in the future adventure mode, exhaust your brains, and challenge the high score with the deck! (This mode is not included in the preemptive experience) About The Game Airhead: Airhead is a game is a Roguelike game with card battle as the core. In each adventure, create your own deck genre, show your wisdom in building strategies and exploring the dungeon! "We are honored to partner with Zynga on the development of Hotdog Dash, our first game for the Middle East and Africa." said Nicholas Piekarski, CEO of Hotdog Dash. "Hotdog Dash is a game that we believe the region of the world will respond to. It is something that will appeal to everyone, as there is no game more universal

Earn money with me: Paypal account: Rick comes back from his car buying expedition to explain all the latest news in the life of an old fart. A late spring forecast high of 64F on Sunday, July 26, just a month away, is the mildest high temperature in June since 1936. Later in the summer, there will be a wettest day (0.27 inches). There will be no 1:00am high temperatures during June - this may be the last non-rain event of the year. 42 rain days in 2017 - has that ever happened before? Monday, June 25, 2017 0 comments The old-fashioned rainy theme runs through both the forecast and the forecast map, particularly in the Northeast, Great Lakes, and Middle Atlantic. Even Miami, North Carolina, and the far eastern and western areas have rain chances. Note: Slight error in the original forecast as a real weather station reported 0.24 inches of rain on Saturday, June 23. This is technically the wettest day on record, but that may be revised once all the official data comes in.Project Summary The aim of the P30 Clinical and Translational Research Center (CTRC) at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine (JHSOM) is to catalyze transformative change in our understanding of the genetic, molecular, and environmental factors affecting the development and progression of liver disease. Specifically, the mission of the Center is to reduce the death and suffering of patients and their families by maintaining a high quality environment for clinical and translational research that involves innovative and participatory approaches. This novel environment will promote an increase in competitiveness of JHSOM researchers by facilitating the participation of basic, clinical and public health disciplines in translational research, attracting the most talented students and post-doctoral fellows to join and remain in JHSOM, and establishing a consortium with like-minded institutions committed to sharing facilities, expertise and resources for translational science. Research that is driving basic science, clinica discovery, and clinical application has led to the pioneering development of new strategies for the management of liver disease. The JHSOM P30 CTRC will catalyze progress and accelerate the translation of discovery to the bedside. The Center will provide a unique infrastructure to translate basic to clinical and

By Earsnout Watch 22 Favourites 8 Comments 8K Views Another Nostalgic Collection of Music! Another Nostalgic Week of Music! This time it's all about the Dark ages, Dark ages of...TDOL or whatever. Music from the Dark ages of TDOL, TRTL, SBCAN, etc. All these years after the creation of the Grey and Light, are made in the olden TDOL days. Which means there are even more classic songs. You'll also get some choirs, which is a pretty new aspect to this OST :3 IMAGE DETAILS Image size 3591x3781px 7.25 MB Show More Published : Sep 10, 2016Q: How to animate weighted div's position on a variety of screen widths with animation-name I'm trying to animate the position of two div's on small display and the position of one div on large and large displays with varying screen sizes using CSS and animate().
